Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2

A design choice guided by a best practice does not need to be justified.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: A

Explanation:

You should always be sure to include your justifications and selection criteria in your logical design documents. These justifications are useful when you explain your approach during design and milestone meetings, and they ensure that you are aware of the impact of the technical approach and the components of the platform or solution you are building.

NEW QUESTION: 3

A company has Windows 10 Enterprise client computers. Client computers are connected to a corporate private network.

You deploy a Remote Desktop Gateway, DirectAccess, and a VPN server at the corporate main office.

Users are currently unable to connect from their home computers to their work computers by using Remote Desktop.

You need to ensure that users can remotely connect to their office computers by using Remote Desktop.

Users must not be able to access any other corporate network resource from their home computers.

What should you do?

A. Configure a DirectAccess connection.

B. Configure the Remote Desktop Gateway IP address in the advanced Remote Desktop Connection settings on each client.

C. Configure a Virtual Private Network connection.

D. Configure the local resource settings of the Remote Desktop connection.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 4

An application present on the majority of an organization's 1,000 systems is vulnerable to a buffer overflow attack. Which of the following is the MOST comprehensive way to resolve the issue?

A. Deploy custom HIPS signatures to detect and block the attacks.

B. Validate and deploy the appropriate patch.

C. Deploy custom NIPS signatures to detect and block the attacks.

D. Run the application in terminal services to reduce the threat landscape.

Answer: B

Explanation:

If an application has a known issue (such as susceptibility to buffer overflow attacks) and a patch is released to resolve the specific issue, then the best solution is always to deploy the patch.

A buffer overflow occurs when a program or process tries to store more data in a buffer (temporary data storage area) than it was intended to hold. Since buffers are created to contain a finite amount of data, the extra information - which has to go somewhere - can overflow into adjacent buffers, corrupting or overwriting the valid data held in them. Although it may occur accidentally through programming error, buffer overflow is an increasingly common type of security attack on data integrity. In buffer overflow attacks, the extra data may contain codes designed to trigger specific actions, in effect sending new instructions to the attacked computer that could, for example, damage the user's files, change data, or disclose confidential information.

Buffer overflow attacks are said to have arisen because the C programming language supplied the framework, and poor programming practices supplied the vulnerability.
